

The Leek Parade

The parade approaches

One of the Tilff Giants, the Baker

Some of the Baker's dozen

Beautiful Bozos

The local nursery school participates in style

Next comes the elementary school

Chris, Lisbeth and Steph shake off the confetti

PORAIS

That silly string is bad for my fro, man!

Now everyone gets to do a little dance

They don't look all that savage but, man, can they dance!

Scary
penguin
man

And
he's armed with a confetti cannon!

À PORAI

This guy had EVERYONE dancing!

The Leeks arrive

And their farmer

Up out of the ground

A good time was had by all

A few weeks later, in Esneux...the Big Fire

The pile of greenwood with the effigy of Judas

The barbeque with DJ and bar, all under cover

Jim as spectator at the Big Fire

The locals look on

A woman with short dark hair, wearing glasses, a black hat, a red scarf, and a dark jacket, is smiling and looking towards the camera. She is standing in front of a large, illuminated Christmas tree at night. The tree is covered in warm white lights and has a ladder leaning against it. The background is dark, and the overall scene is festive and celebratory.

Not really as spectacular as a pile of Christmas trees

A night scene featuring a large bonfire. Bright orange and yellow flames and a thick stream of sparks rise from the fire. The air is filled with a heavy, white, flakey substance that falls from the top of the frame, resembling snow. In the background, there are dark silhouettes of trees and a crowd of people behind a metal barrier. The overall atmosphere is festive and dramatic.

The flakey stuff is snow not ash!

Fun despite the weather, the beer and coffee Liegoise helped

The smoldering remains
